Terms of Service

TIB's Terms of Use (ToU TIB 2018)¹ and The Info sheet Data Protection (see below) apply. This is a human-readable summary of the Terms of Use for eDoer (the project)².

Disclaimer: This summary is not a part of the Terms of Use (ToU TIB 2018) and is not a legal document. It is simply a handy reference for understanding the full terms. Think of it as the user friendly interface to the legal language of our Terms of Use.

Part of our mission is to:

- Empower learners to construct their own learning trajectories on the basis of labour market information and OER (Open Educational Resources) based learning content
- Create and evaluate a hybrid OER recommendation system, relying on labour market information, learner and OER properties, and our proposed quality prediction model for OERs

You are free to:

- Add your job experience and competencies and build your path towards your target job based on our recommendations
- Read and learn from the recommended Open Educational Resources

Under the following conditions:

- Civility – You support a civil environment and do not harass other users.
- Lawful behaviour – You do not violate copyright or other laws.
- No Harm – You do not harm our technology infrastructure.
- Terms of Use and Policies – You adhere to the Terms of Use and to the applicable community policies when you visit our sites or participate in our communities.

With the understanding that

- Project status conditions – It is a RESEARCH project and therefore, until providing the final version of our services, It will not be a complete working project. For instance, we will change/remove features based on the requirements in order to improve the quality of our final product.
